

Mullins

Run-ons Exercise

name:

Revise the following run-on sentences in any way you wish. However, try to vary the techniques you use.

1. Nowadays nothing has changed, people still think the same.
2. The teacher and the students teach each other, there are no boundaries.
3. According to the banking concept, the teachers should be in charge, they tend to be more knowledgeable than the students and also have more experience.
4. High school was boring and dull for me, therefore I spent more time outside of school every day than in class taking notes.
5. Roger gets up to open the door and is startled at what he sees, at the door is his ex-wife Michelle with his son Joe.
6. The school was strict, if students did not follow the rules they were punished physically.
7. Almost every day I think of where I have come from and how it has changed my whole life, living in two different countries and cultures has changed me as a person.
8. The Rodriguez family became a part of society and that was what all the family members wanted, however it made them lose their intimacy.
9. I heard we were moving, immediately I realized that I wouldn't see any of my friends again.
10. My girlfriend was nervous because she had never met my grandmother before, she only knew all the crazy stories I told her.