

Mullins

Conciseness Exercise

name:

Edit the following sentences for wordiness. Try to make them concise as possible without losing any of the meaning.

1. The chance to get a good education, the opportunity to hold a job that is in a profession that other people respect, and the ability to make money are all goals that most people in the world desire.
2. I too have in my own experience an anecdote that shows the direct relation between one's economic status and social standing and the education that one is able to receive.
3. In the book Pedagogy of the Oppressed which was written by Paulo Freire, there are two teaching methods that are talked about.
4. Exploring girls' toys when an individual is a male does not mean that the boy will end up becoming a homosexual person.
5. Aaron Devor states that femininity tells heterosexually oriented females they should pretty much dress in such a way as to make men find them attractive.